

THE ENFYYS

COUNTERPART

You only see what another one shows
if that's anger or courage or happiness

You decide for yourself who you want to be today
How you behave will determine the things that you receive
Do you want to be happy today
Look forward and forgive your friends
Appreciate life, live a passion
Pass on good things and stand up for another

Oh oh oh oh oh oh
Relationships are just too swirled
So bring more love into the world
Just too swirled, for this world, just too swirled
You only see what another one shows
if that's anger or courage or happiness

You decide for yourself who you want to be today
How you behave will determine the things that you receive

And if you're sad accept yourself
There's nothing to regret, nothing to lose
Make it right, focus on yourself
Always go ahead, never look back

Oh oh oh oh oh oh
Relationships are just too swirled
So bring more love into the world
Just too swirled, for this world, just too swirled
You only see what another one shows
if that's anger or courage or happiness

You decide for yourself who you want to be today
How you behave will determine the things that you receive

More love into the world
More love into the world
More love into the world
More love into the world

You only see what another one shows
if that's anger or courage or happiness

You decide for yourself who you want to be today
How you behave will determine the things that you receive

You only see what another one shows
if that's anger or courage or happiness

You decide for yourself who you want to be today
How you behave will determine the things that you receive

More love